

Figma Wireframes -

Description of the Business -

This site is a group based chat room / message board site. This site gives the user a way to quickly send messages as well as photo and video posts to other users. The potential users of this site would be people looking for an alternative to other group based messaging sites like Facebook messenger and Discord as well as image and video posting oriented sites like Reddit and Tumblr.

Feature/Content Explanations -

This site plans to include features like account and profile creation where once a profile is created a user can choose to join groups based upon their various interests as well as create their own groups for other users to join in turn. In these various groups users will have a chatroom to converse with other users in the group as well as a group image / video board where users can upload content and others can comment on the various posts made. The first page of the site will be the login and sign up page for new and returning users. It will also include buttons to pages explaining terms of use of the website and other general info about the site. The second page of the site will be the first page a user sees upon successful login. This page will contain the general chatroom for the site as well as the most recent posts made to the site. It will also contain buttons to make new posts and a button to take the user to a catalog of all posts made to the site. The third page will contain the full category of all posts made to the site contained into a bootstrap card that will have the title, text and image of the post.